MRS. HARTLEY.

The San Francisco Post Makes a Strong Plea for Her.

The following is from the San Francisco Post:

A circular is being numerously signed by the people of Reno protesting against the granting of a pardon to Mrs. Hartley, who killed Senator M. D. Foley last July. We have closely watched the papers in this case, and regret to say that not one has said that the trial and conviction of this homeless, friendless woman were most outrageous. The Post makes no plea for clemency toward those who wantonly take human life, as those who have watched our course know, but there were so many mitigating circumstances in this poor woman's offense that we think she was entitled to an acquittal. Her crime was great, but it was the result of the man's crime against her, and if there is any compassion in the heart of the Governor of Nevada we hope it will cry out for the pardon of Mrs. Hartley. If some of our contemporaries feel that in saying what we have, we have gone too far we shall be pleased to discuss the matter with them, but we beg the friends of the dead State Senator to let the matter drop. If they do not feel like asking for a pardon of the mother of their friend's child they should do nothing that is calculated to injure her plea for release.

Gresham's Body Interred

Chicago, May 30.—The remains of Walter Q. Gresham were temporarily interred at Oakland cemetery this afternoon. The procession formed at the depot on the arrival of the train with an escort of United States troops from Fort Sheridan. Besides Gresham's family and the Presidential party the funeral was attended by the members of the Loyal Legion, Grand Army Republic, Judges, State and Municipal officers, civic societies and citizens.

At the cemetery chapel brief services were conducted by Rev. S. K. McPherson. No salute was fired, the ceremony concluding with taps. The Presidential party returned immediately to Washington.

A Lost Bull.

A few days ago Saratoga a Holstein Bull belonging to the APPEAL office strayed away and has not been seen since. He is a white animal spotted black, has a ring in his nose, weighs a ton and walks a solemnly dignified step as if he thought he owned the earth. He is very gentle and minds his own business strictly, but if another bull gives him any sass over a fence, he walks deliberately through the fence and then through the offending animal on the other side. Anyone finding him will please leave information at this office.

Little Hope.

San Francisco, May 31.—Little hope is now entertained for the safety of the missing passengers of the Colima. No new details were received this morning by the Pacific Mail Company. Mrs. C. H. Cushing received a telegram from her son, picked up by the San Juan, dated at Mazantia, saying that he is returning on the San Juan. Officials of the Steamship Company still say that they have not given up hope for the missing passengers, but every one else has.

A certain amount of red tape and official formality surrounds everything done in a French cemetery. Recently a grave digger who was about to throw earth on a coffin, heard some one knocking on the inside. He was about to smash in the lid, when it occurred to him that an official permit would be necessary. So he called a comrade and the two sat down by the grave, and discussed the situation while the knocking on the coffin continued. This was about 9 in the morning. Then they went off and hunted up a Cure who also came and listened a while to the knocking, and then the three went off to get a permit. It took them until 9:30 that evening to get the necessary documents. When they got the coffin open the woman had just died.

The proverb, Virtue, "Virtue is its own reward," was never more forcibly illustrated than by the fact that W. H. Harvey, author of "Coin's Financial School," the well known free silver publication, derives an income of $750 a day from his writings in favor of the white metal.—Exchange. We wish he were making twice that sum. He deserves it for the good he is doing. We will incidentally remark, however, that no silver advocates in this neck of the woods is doing quite as well as Harvey.

If Governor Morton is not asked to head the Republican Presidential ticket next year, he will undoubtedly be given an opportunity to head the subscription list.—Salt Lake Tribune.

MEMORIAL DAY.

A Pleasant Observance in This City.

Memorial Day was cool and cloudy and the regular exercises as advertised in the papers were faithfully carried out. The procession which marched from the Capitol Square, consisted of Custer Post, G. A. R., Veterans of the war, children from the Orphans' Home and Indian School and citizens in carriages, escorted by the Carson Guard and Drum Corps.

At the Cemetery the exercises consisted of the reading of a poem by Mrs. Howe, the orders of the day by Adjutant Hanford, the call of the roll of Honor and vocal music by the choir. The graves of the soldiers were decorated by the members of Custer Post, also those of Fort Churchill. There was lavish decoration of graves by private citizens and the cemetery was a mass of flowers. There was no hitch in the exercises and everything passed off without accident.

The Blind Violinist.

Prof. Wood after many years absence from this city comes back on a professional tour with his violin. About ten years ago in the flush times he used to play in this section, and his sweet toned instrument always drew a crowd. Prof. Wood is not exactly a Ysayer, but he can give a wonderfully entertaining performance, and next Wednesday evening he will give one of his characteristic performances at Odd Fellows' hall. Admission, 25 cents.

Congratulating.

The APPEAL in common with a thousand newspapers on the Coast extends its congratulations to J. A. Lawrence who a few days ago was wedded to Mrs. Francis P. Price, and a very charming and accomplished woman who owns and edits the Oroville Mercury.

The Glorious Fourth.

The various committees of the 4th of July celebration are hard at work and it is proposed to have the biggest 4th of July celebration here that the town ever saw.

A funny story is told about a Chinaman who went to Yellowstone park to do washing for the hotel. He found a small geyser that appeared to be extinct, which he thought would be a nice basin to boil clothes in, and built a tent over it. He got his clothes ready, soaped them well and put them in soak, but presently the geyser resented the intrusion and began to play and sent tent, clothes and all skyhigh. The terrified Chinaman is said to have left the valley, and was seen there no more.

An excellent program has been arranged and many delightful excursions will be in order. Information as to special rates to teachers or as to the program can be had by addressing the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Carson City, Nevada."

McEwen in his Letter gave Bierce a roast over a slow fire basting the meat as he turned the spit. In next Sunday's Examiner, Bierce is expected to give McEwen a sizzle over an electrical fire, and baste him with burning alcohol. Extra copies of the Examiner are being ordered in anticipation of the event.
